

I am against this proposal. One cannot pick and choose since amateur radio is a varied interest hobby that one may at first not want to participate in a mode but later decides to do so but will not have any qualification. I do not want element 1 deleted.